SUMMER TERM

Six Weeks: June 19—July 30, 1929

PURPOSE

The curriculum is arranged with the intention of meeting specific problems of:

PASTORS seeking larger usefulness in their parishes.

PROFESSORS in colleges and seminaries, especially in Departments of English Bible and Religious Education.

MISSIONARIES on furlough and missionary candidates.

DIRECTORS OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION in local churches and communities.

CHRISTIAN LEADERS and those preparing for positions of leadership.

COURSES

The courses offered include: English Bible, Homiletics and Pastoral Theology, Religious Education, Phonetics and Missionary Linguistics, Sociological Visits.

Courses are arranged in two sessions of three weeks each. Each part is complete in itself, yet co-ordinated and progressive throughout the entire term. Those not able to take the full term's work of six weeks may enter June 19 or July 10 for a three-week session.

Each course requires consecutive daily work for three weeks, with one or two recitation periods a day as indicated by the schedule.

A minimum of twelve hours of class work a week is required to obtain student rates.

Credits earned in the Summer Term are full equivalents of similar credits in regular terms for like time values.

FACULTY

The Instructors in the Summer Term for 1929 are members of the regular Faculty of The Biblical Seminary in New York.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THEOLOGY

IN THIS DEPARTMENT the course in Systematic Theology is organized to take advantage of modern educational processes. This is accomplished by applying, successively, to the study of Christian Doctrine the historical, psychological, and philosophical modes of approach, under the professors of the subjects indicated.

The Historical Approach

The first year is given to an examination of the progressive developments of Christian thinking, as they have found expression in the historic creeds and confessions and so contribute to the understanding of the basic truths of Systematic Theology.

The Psychological Approach

In the second year the psychological foundation for the Christian belief is investigated. The Christian's experience of faith in God, in the redemptive work of His Son, and in the soteriological assurances of evangelical Protestantism, is analyzed.

The Philosophical Approach

The third year course, entitled The Philosophy of the Christian Religion, considers the facts, principles, and doctrines of Systematic Theology as related to the thought and life of mankind.

DEGREES

By THE authority of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, the degrees of Bachelor of Sacred Theology, Master of Sacred Theology, Doctor of Sacred Theology, Bachelor of Religious Education, Master of Religious Education, and Doctor of Religious Education are conferred by the University of the State of New York.

The Biblical Seminary also co-operates with the School of Education of New York University in offering courses leading to the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy.
